

10 THINGS TO ASK INSTEAD OF 'WHAT DO YOU DO?'

Next time someone asks 'What do you do?' feel free to hand them this list and say, 'Try again, Brenda.'

1. What's something you've done recently that you're proud of?
(Let's start on a high note - even if it's just keeping a plant alive.)

2. What's the best trip you've ever taken - or your dream destination?
(Take me somewhere... even if it's in my imagination.)

3. What hobby or interest brings you joy that has **nothing** to do with work?
(Bonus points if it involves glue guns or obscure trivia.)

4. What's the first concert you ever went to - and would you go again today?
(Nostalgia always wins.)

5. What podcast or show are you currently obsessed with?
(No judgment - true crime, romcoms, financial scandals... it's all welcome.)

6. What's a fun fact about you that doesn't come up in everyday conversation?
(This is where the "I've eaten tarantula" stories live.)

7. What's something your friends always ask you for help with?
(Everyone's the go-to person for something - even if it's "meme curation.")

8. What's a value you live by, even when it's not easy?
(Because real talk is better than small talk.)

9. If your life had a soundtrack right now, what song would be playing?
(Please don't say "The Sound of Silence.")

10. What's the pop culture hill you'll die on - go.

(Die Hard is a Christmas movie. Karen Read was framed. NSYNC > Backstreet Boys. Choose your fighter.)
